A National Literature

Greatness in a nation is to be found in something more than its might as a military or naval power, or in its vast possessions, its financial strength, its industrial development, its world-wide trade and commerce. True greatness is to be found in something more than even the health and physical fitness of its people, their educational attainments, their progressiveness. Real greatness in a nation is to be found in things of a less tangible nature as revealed in the sentiment, the spirit, the inherent character of the people. In these are to be found the soul of a nation.

The nobility of character of a people, the soul of a nation is reflected in its art, its literature, whether of poetry of prose, its attitude towards religious observances, its sympathetic care of the unfortunate and afflicted.

The greatness of Britain is seen just as truly in the works of Shakespeare, Milton, Bunyan, Tennyson, Scott and Burns as it is in the deeds of Nelson, Drake, Wellington, Wolfe or Clive. Indeed, it has been such men as those in the first mentioned group who have been the inspiration of those in the second group. The poets and writers of Britain have interpreted the spirit of the races, have caught and aroused the finest and noblest instincts of their fellow men, have lifted high a banner under which Britons the world over have been inspired to serve with unselfish, undying devotion.

After the passage of centuries the greatness and glory of ancient Greece and Rome rests not upon the mighty achievements of their warriors but upon the beauty and power of their great authors, poets and artists. Their works still live and are an inspiration to the world, while the achievements of the warriors have long since crumbled into dust.

A young and still largely undeveloped country like Canada is naturally deeply concerned with material things. It is a country in the making, with a comparatively small population scattered over an immense territory. As a nation it has only recently passed the half century mark. Its history is yet to be made. The years that have passed have been creditable years, and in the fateful years of the Great War, Canada tested and proved the character of its people. Great material advancement has been recorded; progress is the national watchword.

But what of the Canada of the future? Are the Canadian people to be content with a form of national greatness based solely on increasing population, greater accumulations of wealth, an enrichment in things material, or do Canadians covet for their country a greatness which will include those other and less tangible, but infinitely less perishable, assets of a fine and lofty literature to guide and inspire generations yet unborn?

We believe Canadians do aspire to these higher things, and this belief is supported by a growing recognition on the part of press and people of the importance of encouraging the development of a strong and worthwhile Canadian literature. One concrete evidence of this is found in the increasing interest taken in Canadian books, Canadian poetry, Canadian art and music. Canadian authors' or Canadian book week has just been observed, and observed more generally than in any previous year. In a strictly material sense the surface idea may be to promote the sale of books by Canadian authors and publishers, but the main, the underlying idea is to thus provide encouragement to Canada's native born writers and poets, and to make possible a Canadian literature which will be a source of national pride, inspiration and strength.

Canada proved its greatness during the Great War not alone in the trenches, or at Vimy Ridge, or in the making of munitions, the raising of foodstuffs, the financing of huge undertakings, or in the self-sacrifice of its people. Of all the nations in the world, Canada at the same time prepared the finest pictorial record of the war by leading artists. This Dominion's War Memorial Pictures are without a peer in the world. It is a collection of unsurpassed historical value and beauty, not a glorification of war, but a pictorial history to acquaint future generations of Canadians with the heroism, the steadfastness, the self-sacrifice of our people, and to inspire them to cultivate and maintain those qualities and virtues which make for true national strength and greatness.

And it was a Canadian who produced the finest piece of poetry to have its inspiration in the Great War,—Colonel McCrae's "In Flanders Fields,"—a never dying message to the people of Canada to hold on high the torch of freedom and keep the faith for which their sons heroically fought and died.

Every Canadian home should have in it some of the best Canadian books, and the number should be added to yearly and to the extent that the finances of the home will permit. It is mere waste of time to deplore the prevalence of United States or other foreign books and magazines in Canada. There is one sure way to overcome this difficulty, and to promote the healthy growth of Canadian publications and encourage Canadian authors, and that is to commence the establishment of a small home library of Canadian books and to add to it as rapidly as possible. By so doing every Canadian can help in a very direct way in building up a strong and worthwhile Canadian literature which will prove to be a very real source of national strength.

Plan Unusual Flight

Round the World by Way of Poles is Latest Idea

A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen says a round-the-world flight by way of the North and South Poles is being discussed among members of the Amundsen-Ellsworth Polar expedition, which flew across the North Pole last May, in the dirigible Norge.

This statement is credited to Dr. Finn Malmgren, meteorologist and oceanographer on the Polar flight and a close friend of Amundsen.

Dr. Malmgren believes the world flight feasible with an aeroplane having eight motors, but says the actual plans have not been formulated.

War On Rheumatism

International Society Has Been Organized to Combat It

Rheumatism costs the world as much as tuberculosis in loss of wages and labor, according to a report to the American Medical Association. The malady is much more important economically than is generally believed and an international society to combat it has been organized through the action of an association of physicians in the Netherlands.

This society is about to issue a world-wide rheumatism questionnaire to collect information about the causes, climatic, and social conditions and other factors that enter into the prevalence of the affection. These data will be used as a basis of scientific studies to determine better methods for its treatment and cure.

Safety Of Railway Travel

Only Small Percentage of Accidents Occur on Canadian Roads

The safety of railway travel in Canada is again shown in a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, covering the year 1925. For every billion miles travelled by passengers in that year only 1.7 were killed and 127.5 injured. In other words there were five passengers killed in train accidents in 1925 and 374 injured out of a total of 41,458,984 passengers carried, a distance of 2,910,760,047 miles, or one passenger killed to every 8¼ billion carried and one injured out of every 110,000 carried.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS AN EXCELLENT REMEDY

For Any of the Many Minor Ailments of Infants and Young Children

No mother can expect that her child will escape all the ills to which babyhood and childhood are subject, but she can do much to lessen their severity, and to make baby's battles for health easily won.

Nine-tenths of the minor ailments which afflict babyhood and childhood are caused by some derangement of the stomach and bowels. Regulate the stomach and bowels and these troubles will disappear. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative which through their action on the stomach and bowels never fail to banish constipation and indigestion; colds and simple fevers; expel worms and make the dreaded tething time easy.

Concerning Baby's Own Tablets Mrs. A. Koshan, Hamilton, Ont., writes:—"Kindly send me your booklet, "Care of Baby in Health and Sickness." I have two little children four and a half and three years old and have used nothing else for them but Baby's Own Tablets. I think the Tablets are a wonderful medicine for little ones."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Origin Of Old Saying

"No room to swing a cat," is an old naval phrase which does not refer to a feline. It was first applied to the confined space between decks on the old men-o'-war, which was so cramped that there was no room for the boson's mate to swing a cat-o'-nine-tails when administering floggings.

Ready-made Medicine. — You need no physician for ordinary ills when you have at hand a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. For coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchial troubles, it is invaluable; for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains it is unsurpassed; while for cuts, sores and the like it is an unquestionable healer. It needs no testimonial other than the use, and that will satisfy anyone as to its effectiveness.

Canadian Export Wheat

For the past seven crop years Canadian "export wheat" has totalled 975,000,000 bushels—of which 450 million bushels moved via Canadian ports, and 525 million bushels via U.S. routes.

An Oil of Merit.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is not a jumble of medicinal substances thrown together and pushed by advertising, but the result of the careful investigation of the healing qualities of certain oils as applied to the human body. It is a rare combination and it won and kept public favor from the first. A trial of it will carry conviction to any who doubt its power to repair and heal.

There are some 330,000 superannuated officers and officials on the Japanese pension roll which amounts to about $60,000,000 annually.

Linking Empire By Radio

Project Characterized as Dream Will Soon be Accomplished

The long talked of linking up of the British Empire, a project that was only recently characterized as a dream, is expected to be accomplished within the next few months with the inauguration of four imperial beam wireless stations in Great Britain. Two of these, at Bodmin and Bridgewater, will communicate with Canada and South Africa, respectively, and two others at Grimsby and Skegness, will span the seas to Australia and India.

Light And Sight

Glare More Harmful to Vision Than Insufficient Light

Investigation of the relation of light to the ability to see well was recently undertaken by the British government, resulting in the discovery that glare seriously interferes with good vision. The survey indicated that glare is even more harmful to the vision than insufficient illumination. Tests made in factories proved that increased illumination, with a minimum of glare, greatly increased the output of work.

Immense Floods of Golden Grain From Western Prairies Now Pouring Through Lake Terminals

At the port terminals, particularly of Port Arthur and Fort William, the Canadian wheat harvest is literally poured through the greatest grain-handling equipment in the world, like a wonderful Niagara of pure gold, says the Ottawa Citizen. There are 36 such grain castles looking out over Thunder Bay at the Canadian head of Lake Superior. They contain 64,705,000 bushels of grain. Most of Canada's 400 million bushel wheat crop is poured through this capacious spout. As much as 5,678,000 bushels has been shipped through it one day. For miles back into the country the long grain trains debouch on Port Arthur and Fort William. More than 270,000 cars of grain from western points have been unloaded in one crop year. At one Port Arthur elevator, the cars are picked up by electrical tipping machines, which empty the grain into hoppers at the rate of one car every seven minutes.

Unloading the cars is the first step in the process of transferring the grain from the railways to the lake freighters. The inside of a modern elevator is something more than a row of bins. It is as different from the ancient granary as the modern power-house is from the picturesque old water-wheel. It is a triumph of mechanical engineering. As the millions of bushels of grain flow through, the wheat can be separated from oats and other cereals which sometimes get mixed up in the threshing at the farm. Even the broken kernels can be extracted, leaving nothing but the whole grain to pass through. There is special machinery for handling damp wheat, and for drying it. Nothing that can be salvaged is thrown away. The stray ears of wheat that have been missed by the thresher on the prairie are garnered in for threshing at the terminal elevator.

The elevators at Port Arthur and Fort William line the water front. They occupy over ten miles of harbor frontage, in actual use for the loading of grain vessels. Some of the huge ships are as long as ocean liners, with capacity to carry 500,000 bushels in one cargo, which can be poured aboard at the rate of 100,000 bushels an hour. The sailing of a grain-laden leviathan down Thunder Bay, with the sun setting over the prairie country behind, and gilding in the towering elevators, is an inspiring sight.

Oxford Students On Farms

Returns to England After Harvesting Experience in Saskatchewan

Thirty students from Oxford University and Wye Agricultural College, Kent, returned home on the Canadian Pacific steamship, "Montclare" after having assisted in the harvesting of the Saskatchewan crops. These young men were brought out by the Department of Colonization and Development, Canadian Pacific Railway, and placed on selected Saskatchewan farms by the Women's British Immigration League. They were without exception enthusiastic over the country and its possibilities. A few had remained permanently in Western Canada, and the opinion was expressed that within two years at least twelve more would be back in Canada for permanent establishment.

Leads Trade With Russia

United States Has Lost First Place To Britain

Great Britain has captured first place from the United States in the volume of trade with Russia.

In 1925, despite the absence of diplomatic recognition, the United States led the world in Russian trade, but this year has fallen to third place. According to the statistics of the Trade Commissariat for the last 11 months, the order of trade was as follows: Great Britain, $145,000,000; Germany, $131,000,000; United States, $84,000,000; France, $37,000,000, and Italy $26,000,000.

Dominion Experimental Farm Report

Summaries of This Important Work Carried on by Federal Government

A statement in the very comprehensive report of the Director of the Dominion Experimental Farms for the year ending March 31, 1926, that should receive the particular attention of all horse breeders is as follows:

"This year no trouble has been experienced with navel ill in the foals, possibly due to the fact that potassium iodide had been administered to the infost mares during their gestation period as a preventative."

The report, which can be had at no cost by applying to the Publications Branch, Ottawa, contains summaries of not only the extensive work carried on at the Central Farm in Ottawa but at all the more than thirty branch farms, stations and sub-stations, stretching from Prince Edward Island to British Columbia and from the most southerly limits of the country to the far north. In the report will be found informative notes on every branch of agriculture with special attention paid to some lines, such for instance as the fox industry, for the securing of greater knowledge and the betterment of which an experimental ranch has been established at Summerside, P.E.I.

It has been said that the vast work of the Dominion Experimental Farms, is not sufficiently known; here in Director E. S. Archibald's report is an excellent opportunity to gain such knowledge.

U.S. Wants Western Ponies

If Trained for Polo Playing They Bring Good Price

Polo ponies from Western Canada are in demand in the United States. Between 200 and 300 ponies have been shipped this year from points in Alberta and other parts of the Canadian West to New York and Boston, the principal markets for these steeds.

Some of the ponies have brought as high as $1,500 when fairly well trained. It is an acknowledged fact that it is a difficult matter to obtain first class ponies with the required qualifications of hardiness, gentleness, intelligence, agility and size. The best ponies are half to three-quarter bred, the sire being a thoroughbred and the mare of the selected, untamed type.

Demand for polo ponies from the United States is consistent and continuous, according to authorities on the subject. The Canadian Government department of agriculture is encouraging the breeding and training of the polo pony.

Mining Industry Flourishes

Increased Demand in the World for Mineral Products

Addressing a gathering of business men at a luncheon called by Mayor Webb of Winnipeg, Dr. Charles Camsell, Deputy Minister of Mines, said: "In no country in the world is there a better outlook in the mining industry than in Canada, and we may expect the industry to expand and that rapidly." He based this opinion, he said, not only on the vast unprospected territories but to the almost unbelievable increased demand in the world today for new mineral resources.

Nobody But Doctors

A doctor as bridegroom, a doctor as bride, both the children are doctors, with physicians' daughters as brides-maids, a doctor's son as page, the bride given away by a doctor, the best man a doctor, and a doctor at the organ were features of the wedding of Dr. Edward Eldridge Blomfield and Dr. Elizabeth Breakley, practitioners at Pontefact, England. The clergyman was not a physician.

Air Travel Becoming Safer

Between 1919 and March 31, 1926, air transport flying under British control covered a total of 4,565,000 miles with only four accidents, that causes thirteen deaths. This is equivalent to one accident in every forty-six trips around the world.

Queens of some species of ants live fifteen years and longer, the workers living four or five years.

Early Settlements

Trading Posts Established in Northern Saskatchewan Before the Fall Of Quebec

Prof. A. S. Morton, University of Saskatchewan, who recently spoke at a meeting of the Prince Albert Historical Society, raised the question as to whether trading posts were established by the French traders in what is now the Prince Albert district long before the fall of Quebec in 1759. That there was a fort operated by French traders in the Carleton district, before the coming of the Hudson's Bay Company is fairly definite, and pioneer settlers remember the buildings at the mouth of the Shell River, six miles west of Prince Albert.

Prof. Morton is endeavoring to fix the location of these and the historical society has decided to institute a search for the ruins of these forts besides securing all data concerning them that can be found and to this end investigators will visit these places in the near future.

U.S. Investments In Canada

Estimated Nearly Three Billion of American Money Invested in Canada

United States investments in Canada and Newfoundland at the end of 1925 totalled $3,825,000,000, or $200,000,000 more than at the beginning of 1924. United States purchases of bonds alone in 1924 were $211,956,753; in 1925 approximately $175,000,000, and in the first half of 1926 $76,000,000. Some idea of the rapid growth of United States investments in Canada can be gathered from the fact that in 1900 the total amounted to only $150,000,000. By 1913 these investments had quadrupled, and since then have rapidly augmented.

Minister Invented Reaper

Model Made by Scotchman Century Ago Was not Patented

Those misguided persons—and there are many of them—who believe that the reaping machine, now used all over the world, was invented in America, will be disillusioned by the announcement that the invention was that of a Scottish minister. He was the Rev. Patrick Bell, who made the first model a hundred years ago. It was never patented, and was given to Dundee Museum, whence it was subsequently stolen. Centenary celebrations are to take place this year.

B.C. Cattle Ranchers Co-Operate

Cattle ranchers of the interior of British Columbia are to form a co-operative selling organization this year, according to the Department of Agriculture. This new association will be ready to function next year, handling practically the entire output of the interior.

Face of the Earth Changing By Westward Drift of Continents Is Strange Theory of Geologists

One of the most bizarre, yet significant, theories ever advanced by scientists, is now being tested by a network of radio stations covering most of the earth's surface.

The hypotheses offered by Professor Alfred Wegener of the University of Graz, Austria, and Dr. William Schutte, German geologist, are that all land masses of the earth once formed a single continent before splitting up into the continents we know; that they are still re-forming and perceptibly drifting westward and equatorward; that Europe is shrinking, France and Germany sinking, and Norway and Sweden are rising higher from the sea!

Observations taken at the radio stations at five-year intervals, says the November Popular Science Monthly, will either prove or disprove this strangest of theories. Whether Greenland is drifting westward at the rate of 100 feet a year, and other masses at a slower rate, as is now tentatively held, may be established definitely in ten years.

Professor Wegener points out as evidence in support of his theory that the outlines of the present day continents fit as nearly into the supposed supercontinent as a jig-saw puzzle. The west coast of Africa, for example, fits almost perfectly the eastern coast of North and South America.

Professor Wegener says that the attraction of the sun and moon on the earth's surface broke up the supercontinent and caused the western drift. How the solid earth can drift is explained by the fact that the surface rock, called sial, is softer than the sima rock nearer the earth's core, on which it floats.

An Important Industry

Women in Vancouver Are Making Money Seed-Growing

Interesting variations of flower gardening for profit are shown by Women's Institute Members.

For instance the seed-growing industry in the province is very important and many women are engaged in it. Lavender is grown quite extensively on Vancouver Island and is equal to that grown in Somerset, England.

Two women close to Victoria, who have half an acre, have started the manufacture of lavender water. One member in the Kootenay district has gone in extensively for immortelles and this year will have a very large quantity of seed for sale. Another member has one of the largest collections of rare varieties and is growing more for seed than flowers. On Vancouver Island women in many parts have been growing seed for years and selling their crop to larger growers who market the seeds in England.

Time Proved Theory Correct

English Farmer Advocated Vaccination Long Before Dr. Jenner Tried It

Although vaccination is linked with the name of Jenner, there is ample evidence that it was practised by farmers and others in the rural districts of England long before his day. It was common knowledge amongst these people that an attack of cowpox immunized the sufferer against small-pox, and it was quite usual for farm workers to infect themselves and their children with the former complaint to protect them against the latter. Indeed, twenty-two years before Dr. Jenner made his first vaccination, a farmer named Benjamin Jesty, of Downshay, openly advocated the practice; but, not being a medical man, he was laughed at for his pains. Time has, however, proved his theory correct.

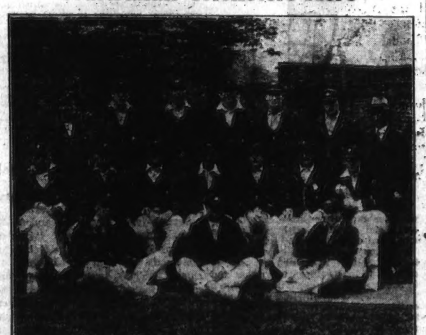
Maple Leaves for Britain

The maple leaf, Canada's emblem, is in demand in England. From the office of the Canadian high commissioner in London comes a request for Canadians to send over maple leaves which may be used for decorative purposes at public dinners during the year.

It is now possible to buy air tickets in London for fifty-two different centres.

A correct guess passes for wisdom even though it is only a guess.

Australian Cricketers Here



The Australian Cricket Team, heroes of the five test matches against England this summer, returned from their eight months trip by the All-Red Canadian Pacific Route from Liverpool to Victoria in October. They sailed on the Canadian Pacific liner Montrose for Quebec where they arrived October 8 and whence they came on to Montreal. They spent Sunday and Monday in New York and went on to Niagara Falls as guests of the Ontario Government and then to Buffalo, Chicago and St. Paul. They re-entered Canada and passed through Moose Moose Jaw, Swift Current and Medicine Hat and on reaching Calgary stayed at the Hotel Palliser, and were the guests of the Mayor. Thence they went through the Rockies from Banff to Field, Revelstoke and Kamloops. At Vancouver the team were entertained by the Mayor and were also the guests of the city at Victoria. They sailed from the latter city for Australia on the Canadian Australasian Royal Mail Liner Aorangi and are due to reach Sydney about November 12. The team is made up of the following: Top row: J. L. Ellis H. L. Hendry, J. M. Gregory, J. S. Ryder, A J. Richardson, S. C. Everett, Sydney Smith, (manager). Middle row: A. A. Malley, C. V. Grimmett, Warren Bardsley (vice-captain), H. L. Collins (captain); C. G. Macartney, T. J. E. Andrews, J. M. Taylor. Front row: W. M. Woodfull, W. H. Ponsford, and W. A. Oldfield.

London's Newspaper Home

Publications of Many Years Are Stored At Hendon

Hendon, just outside of London, is the home of the world's greatest storehouse of newspapers and "poll books"—those ancient lists of voters which rich American tourists turn over so feverishly in quest of their English origin.

Hundon houses, indeed, more newspapers than can be found anywhere else in the British Isles. Newspapers have been pouring into Hendon by the ton for more than twenty years. They are stored in vast fireproof rooms. Now and again they are taken down and sent away to be devoured by some assiduous reader, but the great bulk of them will never be read again. They are being looked after merely because somebody may walk into the British Museum one morning and ask the clerk for a copy of the "Pudsey-on-the-Puddle Gazette" of the second week in January in the year 1752.

London's great home for the newspapers of the past is in Colindale road, where repose millions of newspapers—news sheets from every remote village and hamlet in the kingdom.

All the newspapers that go to Hendon spend a few months probation in the archives of the British Museum itself. They are then sent to the binders, where they are neatly and securely bound. They are returned to the museum and later sent out to Hendon. Once every week the museum's motor van journeys out to Hendon and returns loaded with old newspapers from "The Repository"—these are the periodicals which museum readers have asked for. The volumes when finished with are returned to Hendon.

London newspapers, curiously enough, never leave London. They are all kept in the Museum itself.

New Idea For Mail Boxes

Mail boxes on wheels are proving a success at Amsterdam, where collection boxes are attached to the backs of trams going toward the general post office. At the halt in front of the post office the boxes are emptied and letters are rushed to the sorting rooms saving several hours time in collection.

Heavy Postage on Parcel

Carried by U.S. Air Mail Had $150 in Stamps

What is believed to be a new record for high postage paid on a single parcel was established at Philadelphia when a package was sent from there to San Francisco by air mail varrying $150 in stamps.

Postal regulations prohibited clerks divulging any description of the package, its contents, or recipient, but the parcel was nearly covered with $5 stamps. The air mail postage across the continent is $4 a pound.

The package went to New York and thence by plane westward.

A Model Town

Fort Alexander, Man., Laid Out on Modern Lines

A model town is springing up in Manitoba at Fort Alexander, where work on the new mill of the Manitoba Pulp and Paper Company is being rushed to completion. It is expected that the mill will commence production in November.

A town is being built to house the mill employees and accommodation is being provided for 1,000 persons. Light and sewage systems have been installed and the town laid out on the most modern lines. In addition to homes, the company has built office buildings, stores and a motion picture theatre.

DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER'S STORY

Another Toronto home provides evidence of how a simple cut, scratch or bruise, may pave the way to deadly blood-poison, and how vital is the need for keeping Zam-Buk, always handy!

When called upon at 3, Bushness Avenue, Mrs. J. E. Zealley, daughter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, S. Wales, said:—"My boy Alfred scratched his leg with the brass tag of a shoe lace. A nasty poisoned sore developed and it defied all the usual ointments. Hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk I decided to give it a trial. To my great relief, the balm soon caused healing to set in. All inflammation and poisonous matter was quickly removed by Zam-Buk, and it healed the sore without leaving a scar.

"Again when I fell over a steel fender and injured my knee badly, Zam-Buk alone saved me. My daughter, a nurse, was of the opinion that only an operation could remove the mass of inflammation and pus. But again pinned my faith to Zam-Buk, and it cleansed and healed the wound." All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at fifty cents per box. Equally valuable for eczema, pimples, cuts, burns, etc.

A Business Governor

Lord Willingdon Will Keep Office Work Separate From Home Life

Lord Willingdon, the new governor-general of Canada, has announced that he will be at his office at the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa daily at eleven o'clock to transact official business.

The significance of this announcement lies in its novelty so far as the Ottawa precedent is concerned. Heretofore the governors used their up-town offices but little. They have been in the habit of having official documents sent to Rideau Hall, the official residence. That practice entailed some loss of time and embarrassment when speed was a factor.

Lord Willingdon's departure from accepted routine suggests that he proposes to inject business methods into an office which many people regard as more ornamental than practical. There is nevertheless, quite a lot of work devolving upon the governor-general in connection with affairs of state. His signature to documents is essential. According to the new representative of the King, those who have business to transact with him will know where to find him. He does not believe in involving his home life in the details of his office. That is the way most efficient executives do things. It is a good sign.

Catarrh and Catarrhal Deafness May Be Overcome

If you have catarrh and are troubled with defective hearing or buzzing, ringing noises in your head; if clogged nostrils, a partial loss of taste or smell and mucus dropping into the back of your throat are a source of daily discomfort and annoyance—you should take immediate steps to overcome this bothersome and highly unhealthy condition by using a little Geero Wormwood Balm twice or thrice a day.

This safe, pleasant and delightfully effective Wormwood treatment, when applied into the nostrils gives quick and satisfying relief because its healing antiseptic vapors instantly penetrate into the air passages of the head, nose and throat. Then breathing is easier, your clogged nostrils promptly open up and your dull old head feels clear and clean. All good druggists sell Gero Wormwood Balm on a positive guarantee of perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Try it tonight!

Aged Missionary Is Attempting Big Job

Will Revise Translation of Old Testament Into Amoy Dialect

Seventy-seven years old, and for 52 years a missionary on the island of Formosa, Rev. Thomas Barclay, of London, is returning thence after a six months' holiday, to spend three years revising the existing translation of the Old Testament into the Amoy dialect. He can complete the job in three years only if he finds it possible to work six hours a day for six days each week. Otherwise it will take him longer.

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

Canada's Vital Investment

By C. W. Peterson

Accepting Prof. Irving Fisher's estimate of average value to the state of $3,000 for each productive citizen, we may logically conclude that it would apparently be sound business to expend up to this amount upon the maintenance, education and training of the native-born child until it reaches the productive age, or, in order to compensate for a falling birth rate, or to speed up settlement, upon propoganda and other effort to transplant in Canada an acceptable perron of productive age from another country. Records show that since 1870 we have brought somewhat over 4½ million people to Canada at a direct cost to the government of 37 million dollars. Estimating the expenditure of the railways, provinces and other active agencies at an additional 45 million dollars, the aggregate cost would be 82 million dollars, or an average cost per head of less than $20. Has Canada ever spent money more advantageously? Is it conceivable that any national investment could possibly yield greater returns?

It is instructive to contemplate the unfriendly attitude of European nations towards the emigration of their citizens, except to their own overseas possessions. No matter how fierce the economic pressure, how wide-spread unemployment and distress, no progressive nation deliberately promotes emigration to evacuate obvious surplus population. There is, on the contrary, a keen appreciation of the potential value to the state of the vital asset, and nations will go to almost any lengths and incur the most fantastic expenditure on relief, to preserve this precious asset intact during periods of economic stress, in the hope of the unemployed population being ultimately absorbed in gainful production.

The colonization problem in Canada is not in any sense a class problem. Every citizen, irrespective of occupation, has a direct financial interest in its effective solution. If every class of the community would intelligently study the effect of an increased producing population upon its own fortunes, we would speedily create a favorable mass opinion on this subject.

Performed Daring Feat

Men Climbed Highest Mountain in Scotland on a Motorcycle

Up Ben-Nevis, Scotland's highest mountain which has an altitude of 4,406 feet, on a motorcycle, was the daring feat recently accomplished by two men. In order to prove the authenticity of the ascent the cyclist obtained written credentials from climbers en route. The machine proved itself a good hill-climber, and bore its burden to the mountain top in 3 hours 40 minutes. Some idea of the accomplishment may be had when it is mentioned that the bridle path to the top is in a bad state of repair, and great difficulty was encountered when the washed-down gravel beds, which are interlaced with boulders, had to be crossed. When the base was reached it was found that the rear brake had been practically worn through.

Will Become Memorial

Coach in Which Armistice Was Signed Is To Be Preserved

The famous railway coach in which the Armistice was signed in November, 1918, will shortly, thanks to the generosity of an unnamed American, become a permanent memorial at the "Armistice Crossroads" at Rethondes, where the historic act took place.

The interior of the coach will be restored as nearly as possible to its appearance at the time Marshal Foch received the German emissaries. French subscribers have guaranteed a permanent upkeep fund.

Contract Doctors in Germany

There are more doctors in Germany than there are patients to support them, and hundreds of physicians are on the "unemployment" lists. That is because of the growth of state and city clinics, to which any German can belong. Four out of five people do belong to them, and get their medical attendance from contract doctors for a very small fee.—Youth's Companion.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OCTOBER 31

THE EVILS OF STRONG DRINK (WORLD'S TEMPERANCE SUNDAY)

Golden Text: At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder. Proverbs 23-32.

Lesson: Proverbs, 23.29-35.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 97.1-6, 10-12.

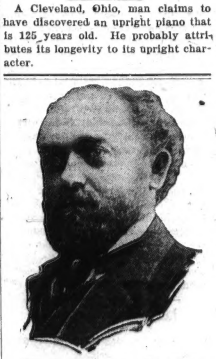
Explanation and Comments

1. A Picture of a Drunkard, verses 29, 30. By a series of questions the writer of these verses gives us a vivid picture of a drunkard. "Who hath Oh! Who hath Alas!" the Hebrew literally reads, for the words translated woe or sorrow are interjections, not nouns. Woe and sorrow come to everyone sooner or later, but the drunkard creates them for himself. "Who hath contentions? Who hath complaining?" Drunkenness embroils men in quarrels and strife. "Who hath wounds without cause?" Drunken men come to blows over nothing, without knowing why or wherefore. "Who hath redness of eyes?" Bleared eyes are one of the conspicuous signs of the drunkard.

The speaker then answers his own questions: "They that tarry long at the wine; they that go to seek out mixed wine." By mixed wine may be meant wine mixed with spices or opiates. "There is a touch of sarcasm in this answer; the word elsewhere used of diligent search after knowledge is here used, as if ironically, of the investigations of connoisseurs in wine, meeting to test its qualities." (Dr. Plumptre.)

Whether or not the world would be vastly benefited by total and final abolition of all intoxicating drinks seem to me not an open question. Three-fourths of mankind confess the affirmative with their tongues, and I believe all the rest acknowledge it in their hearts." (Abraham Lincoln).

A Cleveland, Ohio, man claims to have discovered an upright piano that is 125 years old. He probably attributes its longevity to its upright character.



WELL-MERITED SUCCESS

A distinguished citizen, honored politically and professionally, Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, made a success few have equalled. His pure herbal remedies which have stood the test for many years are still among the "best sellers." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and stomach alterative. It clears the skin, beautifies it, increases the blood supply and the circulation, and pimples and eruptions vanish quickly. Beauty is but skin deep and good blood is beneath both. For your blood to be good, your stomach must be in condition, your liver active. This Discovery of Doctor Pierce's puts you in fine condition, with all the organs active. Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10 cents for trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ontario.

EMPIRE DEFENCE MATTER DEBATED AT CONFERENCE

London.—Despite the existence of strong peace treaties, the question of Imperial defence is likely to provoke animated discussion at the Imperial conference. Premier Baldwin's speech at the formal opening stressed the manner in which New Zealand and Singapore were adopting the idea of sharing in the maintenance cost of naval bases and hinted at the possibility of an arrangement with the Irish Free State in the matter of coast defence.

It is understood General Hertzog, Premier of South Africa, is as strongly opposed to any idea of a contribution for naval defence as was the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier when he was Prime Minister of Canada. It is likely Premier King will proceed cautiously in this matter.

Mr. Baldwin's references to the work of other parts of the Empire in naval contributions is interpreted as a hint to Canada.

Canada's relation to Great Britain on continental lines also will be raised to a vital issue, it is thought, by the speech of Rt. Hon. Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Deep interest is being manifest in the possible disclosures of Sir Austin on the inner import of the recent meeting between himself and Premier Mussolini of Italy and its effect on the Locarno policy.

Swept By Hurricane

Thirty Dead and Three Hundred Injured in City of Havana

Havana, Cuba.—Thirty persons were killed and 300 injured in the city of Havana by the hurricane that swept over the city and other sections of Cuba, according to an official announcement.

All the lower parts of the city were inundated, causing thousands of persons to need temporary aid and shelter.

Police and soldiers were patrolling the streets of the city to prevent possible attempts at looting.

President Machado ordered all places of business closed and instructed the police and military to shoot without warning any persons discovered attempting to carry out depredations.

A house in the Calle Fernandina collapsed during the storm, killing five persons and injuring eight. Another house on the Malecon was inundated and fell. Thus far the authorities have been unable to explore the ruins.

Many homes in the suburbs are reported to have been wrecked or seriously damaged. From the mouth of the harbor to the monument erected in memory of the officers and men who were killed in the explosion of the United States battleship Maine in 1898, the water at times was several metres deep along the Malecon. The Maine monument was destroyed except for the base.

Release Homing Pigeons

Montreal, Que.—More than 2,000 pigeons, representing an investment of more than $10,000, were shipped recently to various points in Ontario where they were released to fly back to their home roosts. The homing pigeons of Montreal are rapidly gaining reputations as capable travellers. Very few of them ever lose themselves.

Radio Beam Transmission

London.—Radio beam transmissions are to be started this week between Bodmin, Cornwall and Montreal, according to The Daily Express. The newspaper asserts that a prolonged severe test has been successful and the Government has granted a provisional license for a regular service. Messages will be despatched in both directions during 18 hours out of 24.

Montreal.—The Right Hon. Charles Joseph Doherty, K.C., LL.D., former minister of justice in the Borden Government and one of Canada's leading legal authorities, sailed for England on Friday by the Canadian Pacific steamship Montcalm to represent the Dominion in the Labrador boundary dispute case before the Privy council.

Named President Of Canadian Organization

S. B. Gundy Elected Head of Dominion Board of Trade

Saint John, N.B.—S. B. Gundy, a past president of the Toronto Board of Trade, and credited with being one of the principal agents in calling together the Winnipeg economic conference out of which was born the Canadian Board of Trade, was chosen this morning to be first president of the Dominion organization. In proposing his name, A. O. Dawson, past president of the Montreal Board of Trade, paid a high tribute to Mr. Gundy's energy and capabilities.

Mr. Gundy, in accepting office, predicted the formation of the Canadian Board of Trade would open up new avenues of co-operation between the different boards throughout the Dominion.

Other officers elected, were: Vice-presidents, A. O. Dawson, Montreal; Capt. L. Dollar, Vancouver; J. H. Paulhus, Montreal; R. G. Persse, Winnipeg; L. W. Simms, Saint John, chairman of the executive; William Birks, Montreal.

Liner Constructed To Prevent Seasickness

New Greyhound Fitted With Rolling and Balancing Tanks

Hamburg.—Seasickness will be unknown aboard the new Hamburg-American liner New York, according to experts who have examined this huge trans-Atlantic steamer which Mrs. J. W. Walker, wife of New York City's mayor, christened. It is claimed that the contour of this 21,000 ton vessel, together with a system of rolling and balancing tanks will completely eliminate need for fear of the much dreaded ocean malady.

The New York is equipped with two turbines which will provide 13,000 horsepower and assure an average speed of 16 knots an hour. Wireless telegraph mechanism will make possible long distance sea conversations with New York as soon as the boat leaves Hamburg. The vessel is scheduled to make its first western trip about June, 1927.

Dry Forces Active

Will Oppose Candidates Who Support Ontario Liquor Policy

Toronto.—"We are not anticipating the necessity of entering 'dry' candidates in any riding, but we will have to be guided entirely by local conditions as they become apparent," stated W. W. Peck, general secretary of the Ontario Prohibition Union, when asked whether the union would be putting candidates into the field at the coming provincial general elections.

Mr. Peck said that there would be a meeting at which committees would be set up energetically to oppose any candidate who supported the liquor policy of the Conservative Government.

The Saskatchewan Hog Pool and the Saskatchewan Livestock Pool, which recently agreed to unite, hope to have the new pool in operation by the beginning of the new year.

A Serious Question

Premier Ferguson of Ontario Would Have Voters Consider Manifesto In Deliberate Way

Toronto.—Premier Ferguson will be content with any verdict the electors of Ontario may pronounce at the polls, December 1, if in the meantime they will consider the proposals of the Ontario Government's election manifesto in a quiet, deliberate way, dealing with the matter as a condition and not as a theory, the Premier said in an interview here. Mr. Ferguson said:

"I have nothing to say about the comment made by a number of people, because apparently they have not criticized in any respect the grounds I've given in reaching my conclusions. I put before the public the general conditions as I see them, and am asking for a careful discussion and consideration of the problem. It does not serve any good purpose simply to declaim and shout 'Ferguson is tied up with the wets.' What Ferguson desires of the general public is to consider seriously this great question, which touches so closely the moral welfare of all manhood and womanhood of this province."

No U.S. Minister To Canada

President Coolidge Can See no Present Need for One

Washington. — President Coolidge can see no present reason for sending an American minister to Ottawa when Canada sends a resident minister to Washington.

In any event, Mr. Coolidge is quite certain such action would require an act of Congress.

At present, it was said, he feels consular questions are being handled efficiently with Canada and that any other questions that arise can be dealt with through the present organization.

Reports that the United States would appoint a minister to Ottawa followed the announcement that Hon. Vincent Massey of Toronto, would be sent to Washington as Canada's first resident minister.

Did Not Attend Unveiling Of Tablet

Irish Delegate to Empire Conference Explained Absence to Premier Baldwin

London.—W. T. Cosgrave, Irish delegate to the Empire Conference, did not attend the unveiling of a tablet to Empire war dead in Westminster Abbey. He sent instead Kelvin O'Higgins, vice-president of the council of ministers in Dublin, and explained his own absence in a letter to Premier Baldwin. In it he said that O'Higgins lost a brother in the world war, whereas he himself was engaged in the Easter rebellion in Dublin in 1916, in which British as well as Irish were killed.

Cosgrave added that he feared his presence might bring pain to bereaved Englishmen, although he, personally, would have felt honored by attending.

London.—It is understood the government intends dropping the postage advertising scheme which has aroused strong opposition from the large advertisers throughout the country, or limiting the advertising in such slogans as "buy British goods."

HON. A. P. McNAB

Who has retired from the post of minister of public works in the Saskatchewan government to take a seat on the local government board.

Trade In Favor Of Canada

Exports to South Africa Much Greater Than Imports

Ottawa.—The announcement of Premier King in London of steps to negotiate a trade treaty with South Africa, while quite in keeping with the export trade plan of the Government, raises some questions here as to just what concessions will be asked and given. It is presumed that Canada may ask pretty much what has been granted by Australia. South Africa already enjoys, automatically, the preferences extended under the Australian, New Zealand and West Indian treaties, although her products are not wholly the same. Figures for the last fiscal year disclose the trade to be very lopsided in favor of Canada. Imports from South Africa in the year totalled only $86,144, while exports from Canada to that Dominion amounted to $9,276,000. The principal items of imports were: fruits, $17,000; hides, $11,000; wool, $21,000; and diamonds, $20,000.

Canadian exports included motor cars, $3,050,000; agricultural implements, $617,000; pulp and paper, $1,400,000; rubber goods, $830,000; and wheat and flour, $1,300,000.

Scotland Is Alarmed

Would Take Steps to Limit Number of Immigrants From Ireland

Glasgow, Scotland.—Steps to induce the British parliament to pass regulations limiting the number of Irish immigrants who have been invading Scotland have been taken here.

Nine thousand Irish persons came to Scotland in 1924, and in five years there have been 45,000 immigrants from the Free State. Advocates who are desirous that parliament intervene claim that the Scots are threatened with being crowded out of their own country.

STATE OF RUSSIA NOW WORSE THAN UNDER THE CZAR

Montreal.—The political institutions in Russia are worse than under the Czar. There is not one breath of freedom, of thought, or action or of initiative in Russia today.

This is the opinion of the present Russian regime held by Mrs. Emma Goldman Colton, better known to the world by her first two names, who has arrived from Europe and is visiting friends in Montreal.

Mrs. Colton desired that it be made clear she did not come into Canada incognito, but that her passport naturally had been made out in her husband's name.

"I don't want Canadian people to think I sneaked into Canada," she said.

Mrs. Colton was deported from the United States in 1919, because of her revolutionary opinions and she went to Russia.

"That does not mean I favor a return to Czardom," Mrs. Colton added to her condemnation of present conditions. "But when a people rise in two revolutions, as the Russians have done, one has a right to expect a little more in the way of freedom and well-being than under the terrible regime of the Czar.

"Instead," she said, "I found a Russian dictatorship which added to the many evils of Czardom a great many evils of the Communistic state."

The women of Russia, declared Mrs. Colton, had not gained the emancipation they had struggled for for 70 years.

Germans Form Aluminum Trust

No Mention Made of Including Britain or United States

Paris.—Through the efforts of leaders of the German aluminum industry, another Continental trust has been formed, according to information reaching Paris business circles. A tentative agreement has been reached and France will probably be included before the cartel becomes operative.

The formation of this combination will be another coup for German business. Being a dominant factor in the aluminum trade anyway, Germany, instead of carrying on the fight for world markets single-handed, will have the financial and productive power of the cartel behind her.

Naturally, other members — probably Switzerland, Holland and Belgium —will benefit, but Germany will be the most fortunate one in the agreement.

No mention is made of Great Britain or the United States and it is presumed that these two nations do not figure in the projected trust, either directly or indirectly.

Hoping For Straight Contest

No Three Cornered Fight in Ontario Election Looked For.

Toronto.—Although discussion is rife with local politicians regarding the possibility of an agreement between Liberals and Progressives in the matter of three-cornered contests in the coming provincial general election, there is no indication as yet that such an agreement will be reached. The general impression seems to be that there will be no formal agreement but only a tacit understanding.

Prominent members of both parties concerned asserted that it was both probable and desirable that Progressives should not oppose Liberals, or vice versa, in any riding, but denied that there had been any meeting of representatives of the two parties.

Western Writer Receives Recognition

Regina.—Miss Irene Moore, of the Morning Leader staff, has been successful in winning a prize of $500 for an essay on La Verandrye in a literary contest conducted by the Bureau of Archives of the Province of Quebec. Twelve subjects were treated, but only seven prizes awarded. Miss Moore is the only westerner to share in the awards. Other prize-winners were: J. D. LeLande, Montreal; Miss Dorothy Heneker, Montreal; Dr. A. Valice, Quebec; C. S. Blue, Ottawa; S. Marin, Ottawa, and J. N. Fauteux, Montreal.

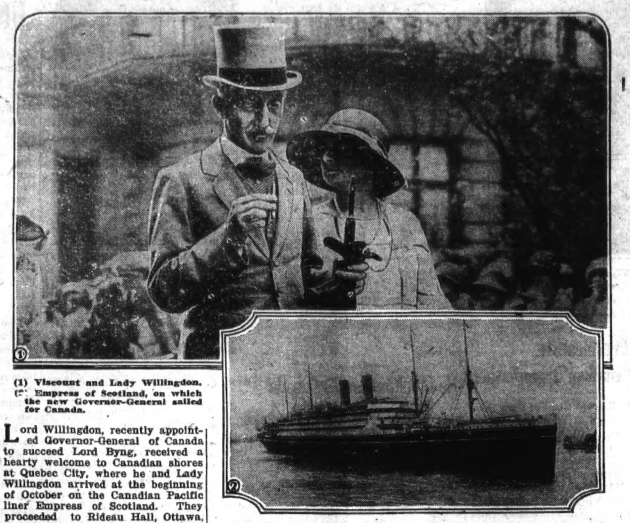
Canada's New Governor-General Arrives



(1) Viscount and Lady Willingdon. (2) Empress of Scotland, on which the new Governor-General sailed for Canada.

Lord Willingdon, recently appointed Governor-General of Canada to succeed Lord Byng, received a hearty welcome to Canadian shores at Quebec City, where he and Lady Willingdon arrived at the beginning of October on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland. They proceeded to Rideau Hall, Ottawa, the official residence of the King's representative in Canada. The news of the appointment of Lord Willingdon to the highest representative post in Canada has been accorded widespread approval both in Canada and in the Mother Country, and his arrival to Canadian shores has been greatly anticipated. That this anticipation has been mutual was confirmed by Lord Willingdon in an interview with the Press on board the Empress of Scotland, just prior to her departure for Canada.

"My experiences in Canada in earlier years were exceedingly pleasant, and I am looking forward with very much pleasure to my stay in Canada," Lord Willingdon stated. "I understand that a great part of the governor-general's duties is to get about the Dominion and see the country for himself, and I am looking forward to many opportunities in this direction."

In 1913 Lord Willingdon was appointed Governor of Bombay, an appointment which he held until 1919, when he was appointed Governor of Madras. He returned from India in 1924. That his tenure of office in India was most popular was confirmed by the Diwan, an official potentate of the Indian Government who has recently been visiting in Canada and who opened the National Exhibition at Toronto this fall. The Diwan, a former Premier of the Cochin State of Southern India, became closely connected with Lord Willingdon regarding administrative matters. In tribute to Lord Willingdon the Diwan stated recently: "I am certain that the King's new representative in Canada will prove very popular. His administrative ability was very highly regarded throughout India. He was Governor of Madras when the popular reformed system of government, a modified system of home rule, was established."

London bade a fond farewell to this popular English nobleman, when they left Waterloo Station for the Empress of Scotland. His Majesty the King was represented by Viscount Hambleden. Lieut.-Col. L. C. Amery, Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, was present. Premier Baldwin was represented by Lt.-Col. Sir Ronald Waterhouse. Lady Willingdon's suite on board the liner was well-nigh smothered with flowers, these including a magnificent display of carnations sent from Premier Stanley Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin.

He has served the Company for 44 years and his business experience goes back to the Civil War days. Mr. Ogden was the recipient of felicitations from all parts of the Dominion.

General Booth, head of the Salvation Army, sailed recently from Vancouver on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada for Japan. The General will tour Japan, China and Korea. True to his maxim of not touching food for two days previous to a sea voyage, the General contented himself with sipping a little hot water while attending to his correspondence and waiting for the liner to sail.

Toronto—The New York Times is about to invest $25,000,000 in northern Ontario for the production of all of its newsprint—about 550 tons a day. The announcement of this project was made by the secretary of the president, Adolf Ochs, during the sojourn of both in this city. The site selected for the paper plant is at Kapuskasing where there is already a small sulphite mill in operation. The water power, 75,000 h.p., will be generated from Smoky Falls.

Thirty students from Oxford and Wye Agricultural College, Kent, England, returned home on the Canadian Pacific liner Montclare recently after having assisted in the harvesting of the Saskatchewan crop. These young men were brought out to the Dominion by the Department of Colonization and Development of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and placed on selected Saskatchewan farms by the Women's British Immigration League. The students are resuming their studies in England this fall.

G. Walter Booth, Prosecuting Attorney for the State of Ohio, in an interview in the tourist department of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Montreal recently, stated that American hunters were choosing Canadian hunting grounds in place of those in the United States practically without exception. Americans, he said, were taking one hundred per cent. interest in Canadian game resorts. Mr. Booth is at present in Canada on his annual duck hunt near Winnipeg, and also a big game trip in north-western Quebec.

Diver Succeeds in Walking Five Miles Under Water

Just to show that "swimming the English Channel is not the only sport," Klas Everatts, Norfolk diver, walked across the bottom of Hampton Roads from Old Point Comfort, Virginia, to the Norfolk naval base, a distance of about five miles. He completed the unprecedented jaunt in two hours and forty-one minutes.

Except for weakness in the legs and a numb feeling in the head and shoulders, Everetts appeared none the worse for his feat.

Seated in a huge diving suit with leaden shoe soles, and carrying eighty additional pounds of lead strapped around his body to hold himself down in heavy pressure depths, Everetts slid into the water at 10.49 a.m., and despite many obstacles,including an old ship anchor in which he became entangled, forged ahead and completed his trip at 1.30 p.m. A launch with an air pump accompanied him.

The mapority of the men were of course, only silly. Especially, those who were obviously important men of affairs, and who amused Joanna with their common adoption of one phrase, "I wish my wife were like you, now!" Three in succession! One who confided to her that he was an attorney representing "some of our very large interests," another whose name was magic in a store that competed with the one she had left, even Pendleton, who had been both a diplomat and a statesman!

As he breathed his response to her buoyant and restless youth, Pendleton indicated to her a pretty woman who probably was forty but looked thirty, and who seemed, in some intangible way, to be not very happy. Joanna saw that her eyes always followed her husband. Joanna thought she would like Mrs. Pendleton. And she didn't like Pendleton. She gave him an unexpected acknowledgement of his "If my wife were like you, now, I'd know how really to enjoy being in love!"

"Haven't you ever talked that over with anyone? Just for example, Mrs. Marks?"

Offense colored in his face immediately. But the girl in front of him was laughing up at him so brightly that he was helpless.

"Because Doris happens occasionally to meet me for tea," he protested, "doesn't necessarily mean that we have confidences. Anyhow, can't we forget everyone else, for this minute you have given me?"

Janna couldn't she told him and left him with a parting sally. A moment later she timidly touched Mrs. Pendleton on the arm. "You won't mind, will you," she asked Pendleton's wife, "If I say that I want to know you? You see," she lied, "I have met Mr. Pendleton, and he was good enough to think you might like me. I wish you would."

The older woman was plainly confused, but recovered instantly. She took one of the girl's hands between both her own.

"Why, that is sweet of you, my dear!" she exclaimed warmly. She was openly delighted by the pretty enthusiasm of the young girl who was the night's most frivolous butterfly. She was afraid she would go down in the torrent that seethed about her—a torrent that glittered and swept up laughter, luxury and extravagance, and the stakes of many gambles in love. This fear suddenly distressed Mrs. Pendleton.

When Kenilworth found opportunity to claim her again he saw that the first excitements of Joanna's triumph in her success among these friends of Yvonne's had subsided, and that she was troubled. She denied it, when he accused her, but almost immediately afterwards admitted it. She had missed John! Brandon had talked with her but a few moments, resigning her, gracefully, to others who, made insistent by their third and fourth drinks, demanded their dance or tilt of wits with her. He had not mentioned that John had come, and had watched her entrance down the stairs and hilarious reception. Neither had Kenilworth, and Yvonne seemed suddenly to have disappeared from among her guests. Joanna began to want to go up to her boudoir and confront the pain of her disappointment. She could restrain a little cry when Roddy told her:

"But where is he?" she exclaimed. "Please won't you keep people away from me, while we find him? He couldn't have gone."

They looked in the dim lit winter garden, peopled with couples whose moods were for faint lights, and in the other rooms which had been thrown open. Brandon, too, had missed him, and so had Dorminster. Roddy, failing to glimpse Yvonne in any of the rooms, decided to seek her out in the morning room, off the reception hall, the little retreat of which few of her guests knew and to which none had admission but Kenilworth and Brandon. Roddy was convinced John would not have gone, even if he avoided Joanna, without a word to his hostess.

When Joanna saw him standing in the centre of the room, she was suddenly angry, despite her eagerness. She would not forgive him, readily, she decided, for ignoring her. Then she realized that she could do nothing but forgive. Yvonne, who had sat directly in front of him, curled in her great soft chair, rose when she and Roddy entered.

"I've been enjoying this boy of yours tremendously," she said to Joanna. Joanna went quietly up to John. She was biting her lips to keep them from trembling. Yvonne, from where Roddy awaited her, added: "He wanted to run away, but I've managed to keep him. We've had a most interesting conversation."

Joanna's lips quieted, a little grimly. Something of weariness came into her eyes, lingered there a moment, and then vanished quickly. She took John's hands. She had intended to kiss him, but led him to a couch, instead, and put him down beside her. "Now tell me," she commanded, "why you have stayed away from me. I have been so happy, expecting you every minute."

"I wanted to, Jo," he said simply, "particularly because it has been hard for me to put off telling you how sorry I am for the things I thought when I heard, of the wonderful thing that happened to you. I should have known better, but I just couldn't believe. I would have come before tonight but you wouldn't let me, you know, and now, of course, I know why. I thought, when I saw you, and the people around you, that I would just go along. There will be no room for me, any more."

"You're going to scold again," Joanna complained. "Won't you kiss me, first. You haven't kissed me, John, for a long time now, days and days it seems. And I don't want to be scolded tonight."

Perhaps he would have resisted her, if he could. But there would be few indeed who could have withstood the appeal of her, almost a child in her plaintive plea to be humored and fondled. John gathered her to him and held her. Her hands pressed against his breast—her old trick which sometimes had been a pretense.

Suddenly he put her away from him. Even put away the arm she hastily flung over his shoulder. When she saw how white his face was she understood why he was waiting, why he couldn't just then, make words.

"Now," she said, softly, "you must tell me why you were going away without even coming up to me."

"Because, Jo," he answered, "you already have gone away from me. I have tried to see it differently, but that's the way it is. When I came here, tonight, I thought we would have our hours together—I didn't know it was to be an affair like this! And that you had planned for me to find you in the very midst of the sort of thing you like—that fits you so well."

Joanna settled back, patiently and quietly. The deep brown settled in her eyes.

CHAPTER XVIII.

A Kiss

"Then you don't like my happiness?" Joanna said: "You don't want me to have what my money has made possible for me?"

"I haven't said anything, of that meaning," John declared. "I want nothing else in the world so much as I want you to have happiness, but I wish you could have with it something of real joy, something of the joy of doing things, big things, out of the opportunities that have come your way. I am afraid you will never know that sort of feeling. Perhaps it is all right that you shouldn't. Money will mean one thing to you; it would mean something else to me. As it so often does where love is the bargain, it has come between us."

"You mean that because of this we must give up—give up each other?" she was still very quiet, and patient.

"What else can we do? How is there any room, or place for me? The little house, with a parlor and kitchen that we planned would hardly be serviceable to you now, would it?"

"But, John, we could still build that same house. That is one thing I want to do, right away." She smiled a little. "Only we can make it larger, and with more to it than just a kitchen and parlor—fountains and gardens, and balconies, and the stairways and panelled halls we used to joke about when we saw them in the movies. We can have all those things now John, that we laughed about. It will be just the house we planned, enlarged to fit my million. Will there be anything wrong about that?"

An Ancient Piano

One of First to Reach America Exhibited at Mississippi Fair

Though its strings have long since become corroded and from its keyboard resound horrible discords, a little piano, said to be one of the first two to reach the New World, will be a feature exhibit at the Mississippi State Fair.

The instrument is the property of City Commissioner R. M. Taylor, who secured it from Miss Rosa Fisher, octogenarian of this city, in whose family it has been for generations. The mate to the piano is said by Miss Fisher to be in Mount Vernon, home of George Washington. Visitors to Mount Vernon describe the pianos as identical.

It is of French make, about 15 inches thick, 28 inches wide and 60 inches long. There are 73 keys, connected in a vastly different manner from the pianos of today.

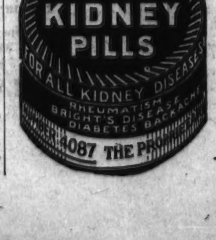
Letter Tells of Wonderful Relief After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Coniston, Ontario.—"After a severe operation and a three weeks' stay in a hospital I returned home so weak that I was unable to move a chair. For four months I was almost frantic with pains and suffering until I thought sure there could not be any help for me. I had very severe pains in my left side and suffered agony every month. One day when I was not able to get up my mother begged me to try your medicine. My husband got me a bottle of Vegetable Compound at once and I took it. I started a second bottle, and to my surprise and joy the pains in my side left me completely and I am able to do all my work without help. I am a farmer's wife, so you see I can't be idle long. In all, I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, five boxes of the Compound Tablets, two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and have also used the Sanative Wash."—Mrs. L. LAJEUNESSE, Box 103, Coniston, Ontario.



THE TRIALS OF MIDDLE-AGE

Much of the Suffering Women Endure Can be Avoided

Every woman approaches middle-age with considerable anxiety, because she knows that is the time of her life when trivial ailments may be the first signs of trials and sufferings to come, the fears that headaches, backaches, lassitude and other distressing weaknesses that burden the life of so many women at this period.

Much of the anxiety and suffering that assail women approaching middle age can be avoided. This has been proved by thousands of happy, virile women who have relied at this time on the health-help given by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. To the middle-aged woman the one thing necessary to carry her through her years of trial is rich, red blood. Because of their direct action on the blood, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the one remedy praised by women for women's needs. Among the thousands who have found benefit from this remedy is Mrs. Allan Wager, Echo Lake, Ont., who says:—"I was at a critical period in the lives of all women and was sick and miserable. I became so much run-down that I was unable to do my housework. The least exertion would cause my heart to flutter so violently that I would have to sit down. I had headaches and backaches, and was in a depressed condition. I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills recommended and decided to give them a trial. It was fortunate that I did so, for under the use of this medicine I was restored to good health and strength and feel like a new woman. I never neglect an opportunity to recommend this remedy to those who are run-down for I am very grateful for what the pills did for me."

For all ailments due to weak watery blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found a specific. You can get the pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Invitation Is Unanswered

Prince Invited to Dinner by American Unknown to Him

The Prince of Wales has received a cabled invitation to join an American and his wife at dinner on their arrival in England soon. The cable, which was addressed: "Prince of Wales of England, St. Jame's Place, London," read:

"My wife and self will be honored if you will dine with us on our visit to London next month. Name your company and your date."

It was the first the Prince had heard of his would-be American hosts whose names have not been made public. The invitation remains unanswered.

"Be mine—I love you!" ardently whispered the aged millionaire to the penniless young widow.

"Enough to die for me?" she asked coyly.—Judge.

Little Helps For This Week

Blessed are they that mourn, for they sall be comforted.—Matt. v. 4.

Oh, deem not they are blest alone
Whose lives a peaceful tenor keep;
The Power who pities man has shown
A blessing for the eyes that weep.
For God hath marked each sorrowing day,
And numbered every secret tear;
And heaven's long age of bliss shall pay
For all His children suffer here.
—William Cullen Bryant.

God washes the eyes by tears until they can behold the invisible land where tears shall come no more. O Love! O Affliction! ye are the guides that show us the way through the great airy space where our loved ones walked. God teaches us, while yet our sorrow is wet, to follow on and find our dear ones in heaven.
—Henry Ward Beecher.

No need to suffer with corns, or to run the risk of parting them. Remove them surely and painlessly with Holloway's Corn Remover.

Find Oldest Horse

A mummified horse the first known to history, was unearthed recently in Egypt. It is more than 16 hands tall and estimated to be about 3,500 years old.

For all pains—Minard's Liniment.

Englishmen pay probably the highest income tax in the world. A married man with one child whose income is $2,000 a year, pays $36; at $3,000 he pays $125; and at $5,000 he pays $450.

Walther League Rally.

The West Edmonton rally zone of the Walther League had its third rally on the 17th at St. Matthew school and church, at which about 100 leaguers were present. Blueberry, Golden Spike, Spruce Grove and Edmonton were well represented. In the afternoon some very lively outdoor games were indulged in and were immensely enjoyed by all who participated. At 4 o'clock the young people gathered in the church, where interesting discussions were held on different topics. Prof. W Baepler of Concordia College, Edmonton, delivered an address on membership work; Mrs Baepler on Hospice work; Rev Minking, also of Edmonton, on Wheatridge Xmas seals and Messenger subscriptions: Rev H J Boettcher on Lutheran radio programs. Several good resolutions were drawn up and adopted.

Refreshments were served at 6 in the schoolhouse, after which some Walther League songs were sung and a short talk was given by the Rev Boettcher.

In the evening services were conducted at the church by Prof. Baepler. The collection that was raised will be given toward the Indigent Student fund.

The rally was considered by everyone a great success. Much credit is due to the very efficient management of the entertainment committee of the local society.

Canadian Apples for Overseas Firesides.

Canadian orchards are hung heavy with luscious red apples, symbols of Canada's sunshine and her bright warm summer days. The crop this autumn is the best in years and boxes and barrels of choice hand picked and hand packed fruit are procurable at reasonable prices from any grocer.

And could anything be more appropriate to carry your kind thoughts and good wishes to the fireside of your friends overseas, this Christmas, than a box of these ruddy cheerful-looking apples. The matter of shipment is as simple as the mailing of a card.

The Canadian National Express will call for your apples, transport and deliver them, by quick service to any station in Great Britain, Ireland and most European countries.

The transportation charge from Montreal and Quebec up to Nov. 15th, or from Saint John and Halifax thereafter, by direct steamer to points in Great Britain, Ireland and the Channel Islands is $3 per standard box and $6 per standard barrel, including refrigeration.

For rates to Canadian Ports, thru rates to Continental Stations and other particulars, consult any Canadian National Express agent.

The Weekly Poem

(Reprinted by request).

Oct. 29, in Wudel's Hall,
The Girls of Stony give a ball.
O Boys, you certainly run no chance;
Be sure and come and attend this dance.
One dollar a couple; ladies free;
In the bargain you get your lunch and tea. —Opaul Verner

Poppy Day, 1926

Last year we were able to send over $30 to the funds for the dependants of those who offered their lives or were permanently injured during the Great War. This was collected from the town only.

This year we intend to make a house-to-house visit on Friday Nov, 5, and to sell the Poppies along Main street on Saturday afternoon Nov. 6th. In this way we shall be giving those not resident in town a chance to buy a Poppy, too, and so to send a larger contribution to this important fund.

You are asked, one and all, to do your utmost to help. Don't forget the days, Nov. 5th & 6th.

WHY SUFFER WITH HEADACHES ?

Why not have your eyes attended to now, before it is too late ?

My prices are fully 25 p. c. cheaper than elsewhere, as I buy vast quantities direct from the factories.
